

I have been a licensed amateur radio operator since 1978 and have held an Extra Class ticket since 1981. I have lived in New York, Texas, California, and now Illinois over that period and very active on 2 meters. In my experience, the two meter band has shown a marked decrease in usage due in part to the availability of reasonably priced dual and tri band rigs. Thus making 440 and 220 more popular. The redistribution of the VHF/UHF traffic has contributed to the opening up of the two meter band. Therefore, I support the request that Kenwood's Sky Command feature be approved.
